More Showers Possible for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Several shifts in frontal systems should bring Arkansas thundershowers, followed by clear to occasionally cloudy skies and then more thundershowers by Wednesday. A stationary front that stretched across the state this morning bringing scattered rain is expected to move northward today with a warm Gulf front bringing in clear to occasional cloudy skies. However, the U.S. Weather Bureau said a cold front is expected to arrive in the northwestern portion of the state Wednesday, accompanied by more thundershowers. Temperatures are expected to turn warmer today and tonight but to grow cooler Wednesday afternoon. Blytheville reported a high of 89 degrees for the highest Monday while Little Rock was the

Showdown in Czech, Soviet Talks

By HANNS NEUBOURG
Associated Press Writer
PRAGUE (AP) — A Czechoslovak general opposed to the country's new democratic reforms today was reported in contact with Soviet Army officers as the leaders of the Soviet and Czechoslovak Communist parties resumed their showdown meeting close to the Soviet border.

Prague Radio reported that the two party delegations had gone back into session at Clerna but gave no details.

The summit meeting between the Soviet Politburo and the Czechoslovak party's Presidium was expected to conclude today after a thorough debate on the liberalization program launched by Prague's new leaders. But so far there has been no word on the likely outcome of the talks.

Meanwhile, the trade union newspaper Prace reported that Gen. Samuel Kodaj, who warned early this month against "counterrevolutionary" tendencies in the country, met at Stretco, in Slovakia, with the "Soviet Army staff which is operating on our territory."

Prace said Kodaj and other Czechoslovak officers met with the chief of the Soviet Army staff, a Gen. Mayorov, and other Soviet officers "to exchange views on the present situation."

"Counterrevolutionary" was the chief charge made against the Czechoslovak party leadership by the Soviet Union, East Germany, Poland, Bulgaria and Hungary at a meeting in Warsaw early this month.

There was no new word today on the talks between the Soviet and Czechoslovak political leaders which began Monday close to the Soviet border.

Americans on Foreign Spending Spree

By TOM STEWART
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. foreign trade balance shows Americans are on an international spending spree and the Commerce Department says the outlook is "far from reassuring."

The department reported Monday the value of imports topped exports in June, the third month this year in which the nation has bought more goods from foreigners than it has sold to them.

The June deficit was given as $87.2 million on a seasonally adjusted basis. For government officials it was a jolting followup to May's $32.2 million deficit.

With the year half over, the department said, imports figured on an annual rate are running 20 per cent above the 1967 level while exports are showing a 6 per cent increase.

The January-to-June exports, adjusted for seasonal variation, totaled $16.4 billion and imports $16.1 billion. The difference, $318 million, goes on the "good" side of the ledger but leaves virtually no hope that the year as a whole will produce another $4.1 billion surplus to match 1967.

What pains government officials most is that the Johnson administration looked on that 1967 surplus as a springboard to an even better 1968. The administration was shooting for a $500 million improvement over last year but is now faced with an uphill fight just to match the 1967 performance.

coolest with a record low of 76, lows reported this morning ranged from 62 at Fayetteville to 73 at Texarkana.

CHARLES WILSON

In a program arranged by Jack Gathright, Hope Lions were told of plans for a possible State Park at Millwood Reservoir.

The pilot organization is called the Millwood Lake Improvement Association.

Charles W. Wilson spoke as president of the organization and named Judge Finis Odom of Hempstead County, Judge Jones Floyd of Howard County, Judge Ray Sikes of Little River County and Mudge Tom Coulter of Sevier County as vice-presidents and Louis Graves of Nashville, secretary-treasurer.

The object of the organization is to promote safety and facilities for the convenience of the public. Tentative plans are for a marina and restaurant.

Mr. Wilson said that two locations for the marina have been studied. One at Beard's Bluff would be good except for the need of a protective breakwater which would add to the cost.

From a construction stand point one at Bakers Bend would be simpler because the water is calmer most of the time.

Immediate plans for this recreational center is a boat safety program held by the Coast Guard Auxiliary and the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission.

Boats will be checked free of charge and properly outfitted boats will be on hand so that the boating public can see what is needed for boating safety.

This program will be held Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 17th and 18th at Beard's Bluff on Millwood Lake.

Candidates Get in Few Final Licks

By ED SHEARER

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, seeking re-nomination in today's Democratic primary election, said his opposition to the Vietnam war was aimed at "stopping the killing of our men and to bring them home to their families where they belong."

In a statewide television appeal for votes Monday night, the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee also said the war has cost billions of dollars that could have been used to solve domestic problems.

Jim Johnson, Fulbright's most serious challenger, and his two other opponents all have criticized Fulbright's opposition to the war.

An estimated 480,000 Arkansans are expected to vote in the primaries including 30,000 in the Republican primary where Winthrop Rockefeller, the state's first GOP governor since Reconstruction, is heavily favored to defeat Sidney C. Roberts, an unemployed salesman from Little Rock.

The polls open at 9 a.m. EDT and close at 8:30 p.m.

One of the six candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination is Jim Johnson's wife Virginia, the first woman to seek the state's highest office.

Others in the race are former state Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennette of El Dorado, attorney Ted Boswell of Bryant, state Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman, former state Sen. Clyde Byrd of Little Rock and insurance executive Frank Whitbeck of Little Rock. Eight men, including Henry D. Atkins of Wynne, a Negro high school principal, are seeking the Democratic nomination in the 1st Congressional District. Rep. E. C. "Took" Gathright is retiring from the post after 30 years in Congress.

Charles Bernard of Earle, a farmer, is unopposed for the GOP Senate nomination.

A runoff election will be held Aug. 13 for all races in which a candidate fails to receive a majority of the votes today.

Volcano in Costa Rica Kills 12

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)

— The U.S. Army rushed helicopters and other aid to Costa Rica today after a volcano silent for five centuries erupted and killed at least 12 persons, injured hundreds and threatened a number of villages.

The government ordered the evacuation of some 4,000 persons from the villages of Pueblo Nuevo and Tabacon after nearby Mt. Arenal began erupting Monday.

A state of emergency was declared by the legislative assembly. It authorized emergency expenditures to help those affected.

Many of those driven from their homes were badly burned. Heavy rains hampered rescue operations. Refugees were taken to churches, schools and private homes outside the danger zone.

Huge quantities of lava and rock spewed from the volcano's cone, and eight inches of volcanic ash covered the central part of the rich ranching region 45 miles northwest of San Jose.

Grazing land, rice and cotton crops were ruined.

The volcano, which is 5,249 feet high, continued to throw out burning stones and lava through the night. The ashes, rock and lava dammed rivers and brooks in the area, and many of these overflowed, adding to the damage.

Although experts said Mt. Arenal had been quiet for approximately 500 years, Mt. Irazu, 30 miles east of San Jose, erupted for several months in 1963, ruined millions of dollars worth of coffee and other crops and killed hundreds of cattle.

Three other officers were injured and three civilians were wounded by gunfire which police said they did not return.

The violence followed arrest of two members of the militant Black Panther party on suspicion of larceny and a rally at which a Panther leader told 150 Negroes "If you have a gun and don't plan to use it, give it to someone who will."

Elmer Dixon, 18, who calls himself the Panthers' captain of military, stood in front of 25 party members dressed in black leather jackets and berets, called police "racist dog pigs," and urged Negroes to arm themselves.

Immediately after the rally broke up on a school playground, a fire started on a sidewalk. Police confiscated several bottles of gasoline hidden in more to say later in the week by way of statements in his behalf to the platform committee.

Rockefeller has proposed a four-stage peace plan featuring use of an international military force as a buffer. One of his adherents on the platform committee, Rep. Silvio Conte of Massachusetts, said he would like to see a platform plank along these lines.

Another Rockefeller man, Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island, said he expects no plan so specific. Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, a member of an uncommitted delegation but personally favorable to Rockefeller, agreed.

Rep. Glenard P. Lipscomb of California, chairman of the subcommittee on foreign affairs and national defense, said a responsible Vietnam plank could not go into much detail "because we can't interfere with the negotiations in Paris."

The 1964 platform committee chairman, Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, told a reporter neither leading candidate is making a fight for a particular platform.

"If they were, we'd know it by now," Laird said, recalling the brisk platform conflict that preceded Barry Goldwater's nomination.

One announced candidate, the persistent Harold E. Stassen, did urge the platform writers to appeal to the frustration of voters over Vietnam.

Parents Are Attacked by Their Son

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Robert Nelson Bearden, 22, of Little Rock was charged with assault with intent to kill Monday after his father, the Rev. Robert E. L. Bearden, 53, and his mother, Ellen, 52, were stabbed in the office of a Little Rock psychiatrist.

Rev. Bearden was in critical condition Monday night at a Little Rock hospital. His wife was reported to have received minor cuts.

Rev. Bearden, pastor of the First Methodist Church, was reported to have been stabbed numerous times in the chest and abdomen.

Officers said the Bardens had taken their son to the office of Dr. Charles Betts for family discussion therapy.

The number of Democratic favorite sons holding delegations together while they shop for a candidate swelled to 13, when Govs. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana and Mills Godwin of Virginia joined the ranks.

GOP Elephant Image Has Changed Somewhat

By FRANK MURRAY
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — In eight years the symbolic Republican elephant has evolved from an angry trumpeting tusser into a grinning imp with a hat, beating on a drum.

During the transition the GOP elephant split into twins for time, toe-dancing pixies popular now only with the ladies.

All are creations of William Fleishell, art director of the Republican National Committee.

Fleishell, 46, is a former commercial illustrator. His job is to draw party ideas into a printable image.

At the convention Fleishell's work includes the cover for the report of the platform committee, a ghostlike image of Abraham Lincoln with an overprint that will be either "Republican Really Care" or a quotation from Lincoln's second inaugural address, "We must think anew and act anew." The Platform Committee will choose.

But it is the broad-stroked red, white and blue cartoon posters that draw attention to Fleishell.

"This was a stable, Eisenhower, middle-of-the-road elephant," said Fleishell, holding up the huge poster of his 1960 elephant wading its trunk like a rogue bull.

"This one is the young approach, the new approach to Republicanism," the artist said of his fanciful 1968 elephant drummer with bowtie, red blazer and Uncle Sam hat.

It is the drummer poster that seems most popular on the walls around convention headquarters. Fleishell said it was his idea. "Had the committee come to me for a new elephant, I don't think they would have liked this kind of elephant," he said.

"The proof of success of the darned thing is that every time I put one up it's swiped," Fleishell said.

The GOP National Committee sells Fleishell's posters as a fund-raising device, he said. The price is $1 each and 50 cents in quantities. "I guess they've sold a million and a half of these 1960 elephants," Fleishell said.

The dashing twosome is also popular among buyers, he said. "The women go crazy about these."

WASHINGTON (AP) — One week from the opening of the Republican national convention, Richard M. Nixon slipped slightly Monday in terms of delegates who are committed or have stated a first ballot choice, but he made up much of what he dropped one place by registering gains elsewhere.

The former vice president's principal losses, in an Associated Press tabulation of first ballot votes based on primary results, pledges and replies in an AP poll, where a dozen in North Carolina and five in Washington state.

New head counts in other delegations, however, left him at 542, down a net of six since last week and well ahead of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller who gained six and had 202. Nomination requires 687.

The Democrats finished over the weekend the allotment of their convention votes and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey at 792½ moved farther in front of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy who had 423½.

According to John Ruskin the work of science is to substitute facts for appearances. The equivalent bridge expression is "One peek is worth two finesses."

West would have been down six at his seven heart bid, but it would have been a very cheap save.

West didn't get doubled. North passed the bid around to South who went on to seven spades.

Dummy's ace of hearts held the first trick and South relaxed. That ace might have been ruffed. Then South looked everything over and saw that he had to take care of the queen of clubs to make his grand slam.

Based on appearances, the queen was probably going to show up in the East hand. West had bid up to seven hearts and certainly held at least seven cards in that suit. On the other hand, appearances can be deceptive but facts can't be. South managed to perform the equivalent of peeking in West's hand.

At trick two he ruffed a heart and noted that East failed to follow. West had an eight card heart suit.

At trick three a spade was led and East showed out. West had started with three spades.

South ran off a few rounds of trumps for good measure and led a diamond. West followed and South had accounted for 12 of West's cards.

South played dummy's ace of clubs and when West followed suit South knew every one of his cards. East had the queen of clubs and South finessed against it with total security.

of NBC's 90-minute "Name of the Game."

Phyllis Diller tried a situation comedy that didn't work. She returns this season as star of an NBC variety show.

There is the TV trail blazed by the Smothers Brothers; their one-season comedy-fantasy series didn't work, but their CBS variety hour has been a sensation.

Jack Lord's series about a rodeo rider didn't last long, but he will be the star of CBS' "Hawaii Five-O," a police story. Will Hutchins had a bad time with "hey, Landlord" a couple of years back, but returns as Dagwood of CBS' "Blondie." His wife will be played by Patricia Harty whose "Occasional Wife" series was dropped after one season.

Stony silence surrounds the sudden action of ABC late last week, notifying Quinn Martin that it was ending its relationship with the producer, except for his successful "FBI" series. Their contract had four more years to run, and Martin had just finished the first of three planned two-hour feature films for ABC.

Martin, who also produced "The Fugitive," would say merely that ABC "has sent us a telegram instructing us to cease all production except 'The FBI'." I can't say anything except there was no prior notice and I have turned the whole matter over to our attorneys."

PSYCHOLOGICAL TEST PROVES TEEN COMPLAINT IS TRUE

Dear Helen: After reading "Tired of It's" complaint about how teens are treated by sales clerks, I thought you might be interested in a project we did for a psychology course at college.

My friend and I are both 22, but he looks older and I look much younger. For one month we patronized, individually, the same stores and restaurants. He wore a business suit, and I dressed NEATLY in a high school letter sweater and clean school-type pants.

That was the only difference between us. We both made a point of being polite and agreeable. But the difference in how we were treated was amazing.

Except for the usual occasional rudeness, my friend had no trouble. People called him "sir" or "mister."

I was addressed as "Sonny" or "Hey, kid." At crowded counters I was passed over for adults who had come in after I did. If the clerks didn't ignore me, they talked down to me. Middle-aged salesladies rumbled my hair and scolded me for smoking, or advised me to correct my posture, gain weight, get a haircut, all in very patronizing tones. One woman disliked a shirt I picked out and asked if I had my mother's approval to buy it.

At a dinner where my friend Pete, (the adult) had sent a hamburger back for being too rare, I was told to "eat it and like it." When I persisted politely, I was refused service.

At a stationery store where Pete had read magazines from the rack for 30 minutes, I was told after less than five to "buy something or get out."

I'll grant we set some of these situations up, but the examples are endless, and not just with sales clerks. One night I stood on a well lighted street corner for 20 minutes and got shoved against a wall by a policeman, asked for identification and closely questioned. Three nights later Pete stood there for over an hour and was ignored by the same officer.

The only difference in all these situations was that people thought of Pete as an adult and me as a teenager. Having been a "teenager" again for a month, I can understand pretty well why "Tired of It" is tired of it—ROB

Dear Rob:

Your letter should be required reading for all people who deal with teens — and this means all of us!

When we give them the respect due young adults, we get respect in return, and that's the best kind of talking for the generation gap. — H.

Dear Helen:

My girl dated this guy for two and one-half years. Now she has broken up with him to go with me. I know that if she stayed with him this long, she must have been pretty close to him. I've asked her how close, and she won't tell me. She says what's past is past, and I shouldn't expect her to reveal her love life or lack of it.

TYPICAL American tourist except that this one is actor James Stewart, who is behind the camera for a change. The Hollywood star seems to be wondering what to see next as he relaxes at the Parthenon in Athens, Greece.

Grandmother Newest Heart Transplant

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A 49-year-old grandmother is the world's newest heart transplant patient, and she was reported in satisfactory condition today at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital.

Beth White Brunk, a Houston housewife, received the heart of a Corsicana, Tex., woman, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Carman of Prescott and daughter Sharon of Hope have recently returned from a vacation in the Ozarks. They went by way of Mena, visited Queen Wilhelmina Castle on top of Rich Mountain then to Devil's Den State Park in Winslow. In Huntsville they visited Faubus' home, in Eureka Springs they toured Onyx Cave. In Cassville, Mo. they visited Roaring River. On the way back, they came through Harrison and visited Dogpatch, U.S.A.

The operation began minutes later and Mrs. Brunk was listed as "doing well" shortly after it was completed.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actors, like producers, writers and directors in network television, worry about critical notices and—even more—about ratings.

But while a short-lived series may be an embarrassing footnote to a career, there is considerable evidence that even an unmitigated disaster can help rather than hurt the victims trapped in the wreckage.

A magnificent example of this is the impending debut of a young actor named Wayne Maunder in a new CBS series, "Lancer." A year ago, Maunder, a complete unknown, was about to emerge as a star, playing the title role in ABC's "Legend of Custer."

The Custer show, as it turned out, was the earliest and most spectacular derailment of the season. It outraged Indian organizations and historians, was lambasted by critics and tuned out by the audience.

But Maunder walked away unscathed and will return to living rooms in another Western series with costar status.

Similarly, Tony Franciosa had one unhappy season as a playboy in a limp comedy series a few years back but healed his scars quickly enough to be coming back as one of three costars

No Scrimmage for College All-Stars

By JOE MOOSHL
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Norm Van Brocklin isn't called the Dutchman for nothing. He calls the shots and makes his own decisions.

As a result, when Van Brocklin takes his College All-Stars up against the Green Bay Packers in Soldier Field Friday night, not a single member of the 60-man squad will be suffering from anything as much as a hangnail.

Throughout the previous years, coaches have attacked the task of putting a team together in three weeks with work, work and more work. Contact and scrimmages used to be the byword.

Not so under the Dutchman. From the very outset it was apparent the Stars would not be involved in numerous scrimmages.

In the last several years, the All-Stars would pack up the week before the game and journey to Rensselaer, Ind., to scrimmage the Chicago Bears.

Van Brocklin ruled out the scrimmage, explaining he was preparing his team to meet the Packers and nothing else was important.

In the past, the All-Stars have held their final full-scale scrimmage on the Monday before the game. On Monday, the Dutchman put them through a limited contact session and announced "that concludes the rough work. The rest of time will be spent in review."

The Dutchman then really capped it all by calling off the usual light workout which always was held in Soldier Field two nights before the game to give the players a feel of things.

Van Brocklin's reasoning: "It is of no benefit to the players." Van Brocklin, who starred for the Los Angeles Rams and Philadelphia Eagles before coaching the Minnesota Vikings, recently announced he will call every play in the game from the bench.

"We can pinpoint our attack a lot better by sending in the plays," he said. "It will take the mental pressure off the quarterbacks. After all, I know the Packers much better than they do."

Van Brocklin has promised a wide-open game with plenty of passing in an effort to get the first All-Star triumph over the professional champions since the 20-17 victory over Green Bay in 1963.

Since then, the All-Stars have lost to the Chicago Bears, Cleveland Browns and have been blanked by the Packers the last two seasons.

The professionals lead the series 23-9 with two tie games.

The next eclipse of the moon will be in 1971.

Redlegs Use No-Hitter to Win Pair

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Now George Culver knows how to act.

"I really got nervous in the seventh," the Cincinnati pitcher said Monday night.

"I'd never even come close to pitching a no-hitter before in my life. I didn't know how to act."

Two innings later, the former relief specialist had a 6-1, no-hit victory over the Philadelphia Phillies and he was acting completely normal under the circumstances.

"Actually after the game I was crying," he said. "Winning is important, but doing it by pitching a no-hitter, that's the greatest."

Culver's gem gave Cincinnati a sweep of the two-night doubleheader—the Reds winning the first game 7-6.

St. Louis beat the New York Mets 5-1, Pittsburgh edged Atlanta 3-2, Houston blanked Los Angeles 2-0 and San Francisco topped the Chicago Cubs 4-1 in other National League action.

In the American League, the New York Yankees defeated Detroit 7-2, Boston swept Baltimore 3-2 in 10 innings and 8-3, Cleveland downed Washington 4-2, California nipped Minnesota 2-1 and the Chicago White Sox beat Oakland 7-2 in 13 innings.

Culver, who worked out of the Cleveland bullpen last year and was obtained by the Reds in a winter trade, ran his record to 9-9 with his third complete game of the season.

The Phillies put seven men on bases—five on walks, one on an error and one on a catcher's interference—against the young right-hander who struck out three.

Philadelphia's run was unearned and came in the second. Richie Allen reached first when third baseman Tony Perez booted his grounder, and continued to second when shortstop Woody Woodward picked up the loose ball and threw wildly. Allen advanced to third on a ground out and scored on Cookie Rojas' sacrifice fly.

Cincinnati scored three runs in each of the third and fourth innings. Pete Rose started both rallies with singles.

The Reds took the opener when Rose tripled in the ninth and scored on Vada Pinson's sacrifice fly. Rose then saved the game by throwing out Allen, who tried to score from second base on John Callison's two-out single.

Philadelphia had tied the game at 6-6 in the eighth on a solo homer by Allen and Don Lock's two-run shot.

St. Louis' Ray Washburn boosted his record to 10-3 with his seventh straight victory, a seven-hit, eight strikeout, no-walk performance against the Mets. He hasn't lost since May 21.

Lou Brock, who scored once and drove in two runs, broke a 1-1 tie for the Cardinals in the eighth was a sacrifice fly.

Pittsburgh earned its victory over Atlanta on a homer by Bill Mazeroski. Donn Clendenon's sacrifice fly and a single by Roberto Clemente.

Mike Cuellar drove in the first run with a squeeze bunt and pitched a four-hitter in Houston's victory over Los Angeles. First baseman Ken Boyer of Los Angeles was taken to a hospital for X rays after being involved in a collision at first with Houston's Bob Watson.

Gaylord Perry won only his third game in two months for San Francisco, stopping the Cubs on two hits. The Giants clinched it for Perry, 9-9, with a three-run sixth.

Culver Gets No-Hitter for Redlegs

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — George Culver found a new way to get rid of an upset stomach—pitch a no-hitter.

The 25-year-old right-hander of the Cincinnati Reds held the Philadelphia Phillies without a hit Monday night in the second game of a two-night doubleheader.

"I had an upset stomach and had nothing to eat all day but some eggs and toast," said the 6-foot-2 Californian after his 6-1 victory.

Culver walked five, struck out three and one batter reached base on a catcher's interference call as he evened his season record at 9-9. The Reds scored three runs in the third and three more in the fourth to give him a comfortable working margin.

Philadelphia scored one run in the second when Rich Allen hit a shot at Tony Perez which bounced in and out of the third baseman's glove. Shortstop Woody Woodward picked the ball up and threw it over first base, allowing Allen to go to second.

The official scorer ruled a double error. Allen took third on an infield out and scored on a sacrifice fly, giving the hitless Phillies a 1-0 lead. Perez agreed with the ruling. "It was a tough play but I should have made it," he said after the game.

The closest the Phillies came to a hit was in the first and eighth innings.

In the first, lead off batter Tony Taylor smashed one into the hole at shortstop. Woodward moved quickly to his right, grabbed the ball, spun around and threw him out. In the eighth, Allen ripped one toward right that Tommy Helms knocked down and made the play at first.

"I was just trying to keep the ball in the infield," said Helms. "I was lucky it stayed in front of me and I was able to throw him out."

Culver joined an elite group of Cincinnati pitchers who have recorded no-hitters. They include Johnny Vandermeer, who threw two in a row in 1938, Ewell Blackwell (.1947), and Jim Maloney of the current Reds' staff who has two, one of which he lost.

Not only did Culver have an upset stomach, but he also had to have a shot of novocaine in an ingrown toenail before he could put on a shoe to go out and warm up. He didn't come to the ball park with the team and wasn't around for the first game won by the Reds 7-6.

Pete Rose tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly for the winning run. In the last of the ninth, Rose threw Allen out at the plate for the third out after fielding a single in right field.

Culver disclosed that he came to the ball park in a taxi after resting in his hotel room. He said he tried to eat dinner but "I just couldn't."

RED FACE RACE? Starters at women's athletic meets in London are complaining about being embarrassed because the new mini-shorts worn by some female athletes are too revealing. An unidentified starter tries to keep his cool as he stands by the side-line prior to a race at the British Women's Championships.

Tigers Lose Game But Hold Pace

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Tracking the Tiger is fast becoming a monumental misadventure for the Baltimore and Cleveland-based safaris.

The New York Yankees caught Detroit napping Monday night and roughed up the front-running Tigers 7-2 behind unsung right-handers Joe Verbanic and Lindy McDaniel.

But instead of losing ground to the pursuing Baltimore Orioles and Cleveland Indians, the Tigers stumbled forward another half step toward their first pennant in 23 years.

The Boston Red Sox took the edge off Detroit's setback by sweeping a day-night doubleheader from Baltimore 3-2, in 10 innings, and 8-3 while last place Washington upended Cleveland 4-2. As a result, the Orioles and Indians each trail the Tigers by seven games and the Red Sox are 8 1/2 lengths back.

Elsewhere California edged Minnesota 2-1, ending a five-game losing string, and the Chicago White Sox struck for five runs in the 13th inning and a 7-2 victory over Oakland.

In the National League, Cincinnati completed a 7-6, 6-1 twi-night sweep over Philadelphia on George Culver's no-hitter; St. Louis trimmed the New York Mets 5-1; Houston downed Los Angeles 2-0; Pittsburgh nipped Atlanta 3-2 and San Francisco topped the Chicago Cubs 4-1.

Verbanic, a Yankee reliever making one of his infrequent starts, pitched out of several early jams at Detroit before giving way to McDaniel in the sixth and squared his pitching mark at 4-4. Two of his victories have been at the Tigers' expense.

McDaniel, picked up in a recent inter-league deal with San Francisco, allowed only one hit — Norm Cash's solo homer in the seventh—over the final 3 2-3 innings.

Joe Pepitone's two-run single in the fifth broke a 1-1 tie and the Yanks pulled away on two-run homers by Jake Gibbs and Roy White. Loser Joe Sparrma was tagged for five runs and nine hits before departing in the sixth.

Successive 10th inning doubles by Jose Tabatabai and Mike Andrews snapped a 2-2 deadlock in the afternoon game at Boston, giving Ray Culp a hard-earned pitching verdict over Baltimore reliever Moe Drabowsky. Culp, 7-4, struck out 12 in going the distance.

Andrews and Joe Joy homered in the nightcap and Carl Yastrzemski slammed three doubles as the Red Sox breezed behind rejuvenated Juan Pizarro. The veteran southpaw, 3-2, survived bases-empty homers by Boog Powell, Paul Blair and Dave Johnson.

"Every one that goes into the loss column hurts," admitted Orioles pilot Earl Weaver, whose club dropped two of three to Detroit before the double dip at Boston's Fenway Park. "This day - night doubleheader after our series with Detroit was tough to take."

"But there's still a lot of time,"

Ron Hansen clubbed a tie-breaking homer in the sixth inning and Frank Howard unloaded his 29th homer in the seventh as the Senators surprised Cleveland behind right-hander Jim Hannan.

Sammy Ellis stopped Minnesota on four hits and scored the deciding run while finishing one up on the Twins' Dean Chance in a beanball exchange. Ellis hit Chance with a pitch in the top of the fifth and Chance nipped Don Mincher in the bottom of the inning. Chance then plunked Ellis in the sixth and the Angels' tened Oakland 7-2.

Fights Last Night Disputes in Pro Football

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Gary Ballman and Tom Woodeshick of the Philadelphia Eagles walked out in a salary dispute. At least 49 other pro and prospective pro football players walked out looking for jobs. And another walked out in uniform — military uniform, that is.

Philadelphia Coach Joe Kuharich said Ballman's salary demand "was such that we could not meet it." He was noncommittal on Woodeshick.

"We don't pressure anyone to sign a contract," Kuharich said Monday. "They have a right to do what they want. I have to draw the line somewhere, and I have drawn the line."

Ballman, an end, and Woodeshick, a fullback, both were regulars last year.

"I may never come back," said Woodeshick.

"I want to play for the Eagles," said Ballman, "but if we don't come to any agreement, I'm sure there'll be other ball clubs in contact with me. If we don't sign, there's only one way out — trading me."

While they stashed away their uniforms, Green Bay Packers reserve quarterback Don Horn broke out of his U.S. Army uniform. His reserve unit was called up for six months active duty at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Horn, a second-year man, who completed 10 of 23 passes in Thursday's intrasquad game, was expected to play behind Bart Starr this season, a Packers spokesman said.

The other 49 were out, as the teams in both the National and American Football Leagues sought to get down to a mandatory maximum of 60 by Wednesday night.

The New York Giants cut four, including veteran defensive linemen Rosey Davis and Riley Gunnels.

Vern Burke, a veteran, eight-year tight end, who did not play much last season because of an injury, was one of six cut by the New Orleans Saints.

The Washington Redskins cut two-season linebacker Steve Jackson and six rookies, while the Atlanta Falcons dropped three, Cincinnati and Philadelphia each dropped six.

And the Kansas City Chiefs trimmed 17—including John Henry Haslam, of Blackpool, England, one of the two soccer-style kickers recruited from England, Bobby Howfields, of Herts, England, was retained.

Olympic Torch Is Going to Mexico

By CHARLES GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP) — The first Olympic flame to travel from Greece to the new world is to be lighted in Olimpia Aug. 23 to start a month and a half journey to Mexico City's Olympic Stadium.

On Oct. 12, Enriqueta Basilio, Mexico's best female runner, and a member of this country's Olympic team, will trot into the stadium holding the symbolic flame aloft to open the Games of the 19th Olympiad.

In between those two points, the flame will travel by runner, by ship and even by swimmer as Mexico's emphasis on its desire for peace and friendship with all peoples.

Only twice before have the Olympic Games been held in the Western Hemisphere—both times in the United States—and in each case the Olympic flame was ignited in the stadium rather than being brought from the birthplace of international athletic competition.

The cost to Mexico of the torch's journey has been conservatively estimated at $40,000. The actual cost will be higher, but the expenses in Europe are to be borne by the National Olympic Committees of Greece, Italy and Spain.

Once the torch is lighted at the sport where the first recorded games were held in 776 B.C., it will start a journey over the same route taken by Christopher Columbus when he discovered the new world and, later, by Spanish Conquistador Hernan Cortes when he led his small band on the conquest of Mexico.

One of the most unique parts of the journey will be across Vera Cruz Harbor on the eastern coast of Mexico. Seventeen young Mexicans will swing across the harbor with one hand while holding the torch aloft with the other.

The Mexicans have even designed a pair of special boats with underwater cradles to protect each young man on his 50-meter swim in the shark-infested water.

All runners, from Olimpia to the Olympic Stadium, will be dressed in identical white uniforms. The uniform has a green band across the chest in which is depicted a white dove of peace.

At the waist is a red band with the "Mexico 68" slogan of the Games. On the left leg of the shorts each runner will wear a four-by-four inch flag, the only national identification, on their uniform.

From Olimpia the torch goes through the Greek cities of Pyrrhos, Amalia, Patras, Aligios, Xilokastron, Klaton, Corinth, Megara and Eleus before arriving at the Parthenon Aug. 24.

The next day it goes from Athens to the port of Piraeus where it is to be put aboard a Greek naval ship destined for the Italian port of Genoa—the birth place of Columbus.

A month in Europe is no escape from the sporting scene. Because no matter where you go, from the Algarve in Portugal, to the sand in Torremolinos, to the sidewalk cafes of the Champs Elysees, you're running into familiar faces.

Like standing outside the TAP Airlines office in Paris, and who taps you on the shoulder but Irving Rudd, the perpetually former press agent for the Brooklyn Dodgers who now beats the hoofbeats for Yonkers Raceway. Irving was on his way to Moscow to look into a horse.

So you steer him to the nearest Metro station at the Avenue George V and figure he'll get lost in the crowd while you go on to explore the art treasures of the Louvre (some sporting scenes there, too). On the subway trip back, there's another tap on the shoulder at the George V station: the ubiquitous Mr. Rudd returning from an appointment. And how'd you like to take odds on that one, he says.

A side trip to Versailles, where Louis XIV once did wind sprints down the Hall of Mirrors (and the fairest of France ran obstacle races through the gardens), ends with lunch at a bucolic inn on the Seine at Bougival. It's Le Coq Hardi, and the party sitting down at the next table looks familiar. It should be. It includes Sid Luckman, from whom the whole genre of pro T-quarterbacks sprang, and the Irv Kuppelcats. Kupp used to be a prominent football official in the Midwest, aired the Bear games on radio and is better known now as a syndicated columnist.

Luckman is decked out in a gaudy, eight-button job in contrast to the sedate dark blue he wears in Chicago. "My European suit," he blushes. Sid has also concluded two weeks working in the rookie camp of the Bears. An original Jim Dooley advocate, he insists Dooley's genius will solve any quarterback problems the Bears may have. Actually, football's only sideline with Sid. He's in Europe with Charley Stein to branch out into a restaurant chain in England.

Next night, at a restaurant on the Avenue Marceau, Earl (Butch) Buchholz brushes by the table. Butch is in Paris with the pro tennis troupe playing at the Stade Roland Garros, where the spectators flock despite the fractious demonstrations of students in the Latin Quarter on the Left Bank.

On Bastille Day you lunch on the Eiffel Tower with Eddie Stanton, a former sports writer who was diverted into public relations and helped the French government on the Winter Olympics. Eddie's making the European vacation tour, too.

There are only three people in your section on a Paris-to-Lisbon flight. The third person's carrying a portable typewriter and on his lapel there's a press button for the recent Wimbledon Open. He can't speak English, he can't speak French, and your Spanish is nil. But you get the drift anyhow that he's Jose Saldana, who has been writing tennis for El Mercurio in Santiago, Chile, the last 40 years and knew Pancho Segura when he was a little kid.

From the barber who cuts your hair in Lisbon—with shampoo and oil thrown in. It's still only a buck—you learn that there have been threats on the great Pele's life in Los Angeles. And that the Portuguese are still worried about Eusebio's knee after the operation. The names are as familiar to them as Johnny Unitas and Carl Yastrzemski are to us.

Between you'n'me, they've already run the bulls through the streets in Pamplona, a fiesta which used to titillate Hemingway, but it doesn't shape up as more excitement to us than coming home and watching the bulls stampede out of the locker rooms and onto the practice fields of the pro football camps. Arkadelphia Eliminates Favorites

PORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — The Clark County All-Stars of Arkadelphia eliminated the defending champions and Springdale knocked out favored North Little Rock in the quarterfinals of the state Babe Ruth Baseball Tournament here Monday.

The Arkadelphia team defeated the Fort Smith Boys Club 10-2 and will meet Monticello in the semifinals Tuesday. Monticello ousted West Memphis 9-3.

North Little Rock dropped a 5-4 decision to Springdale, which meets Paragould in the other semifinal game. Paragould beat the Fort Smith Church League Nationals 4-3.

The finals are scheduled Wednesday.

Army Insists Canned Bacon Is Safe

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army insists that irradiated canned bacon is safe for human consumption despite the Food and Drug Administration's decision to stop the military services from feeding it to the troops.

Col. Edward L. Johnson of the Army's food-irradiation laboratories at Natick, Mass., said in a telephone interview that animal tests of the bacon were made prior to the Army's petition to feed it to some troops, and the tests showed "no evidence of any adverse effects from the irradiation."

"There seems to be a difference of opinion in interpreting the data from the tests," said Johnson. "We're hoping to resolve this."

Johnson made the comments on published reports, confirmed by an FDA scientist, that:

1. The FDA has turned down a new Army petition to begin serving irradiated ham to soldiers.

2. The FDA has taken a second look at its 1966 approval of irradiated bacon, and ordered it out of the mess halls pending further study.

The FDA contends there is evidence that irradiated bacon can cause adverse effects on the reproductive process in rats.

Daniel Banes, an associate FDA commissioner for science, said in an interview the animal tests were sponsored by the Army before it petitioned the Agency for approval, but he said the FDA obtained full details on the tests only a few months ago.

Banes said the Army originally stated "that there were no indications that radiation caused adverse effects" in animals fed irradiated bacon.

He also said that when the Army—in 1966 and 1967—began to petition for an okay on irradiated ham, it submitted some raw data on use of irradiated bacon in animals to support its contentions that irradiated ham was safe.

But, Banes said, the animal data on the bacon raised questions in the minds of FDA scientists, and they asked for further details. It was after these additional details were furnished that the FDA concluded the data showed a reproductive-process hazard to rats, he said.

Banes said the FDA scientists concluded the data showed a 25 per cent reduction in the number of live-born offspring of rats fed irradiated bacon; and a similar reduction in the number of offspring surviving the weaning period.

"We have had second thoughts on the original bacon petition approval," he said, "and the FDA is taking action to rescind it."

Col. Johnson said that after the FDA's original approval, the army procured only a single consignment of irradiated bacon in December 1966—approximately 30,000 pounds—and that this "was all fed within a month—half to army troops and half to Air Force men—and was only used for testing purposes." He said the bacon had never been supplied "for general use."

He said the Army, in the wake of questions raised by the FDA both on irradiated ham and bacon, plans additional tests.

With regard to the ham tests, he quoted Dr. Edward S. Josephson, associate director of the Army's Natick laboratories, as saying:

"The really significant question raised by FDA has to do with the data provided on reproductive process. In order to show the safety of irradiated ham, the Army will conduct new animal feeding studies which will cover four generations of weaned rats and take two years. Approval of the experimental design will be obtained in advance, and we'll conduct periodic reviews with FDA."

Banes had said in testimony prepared for the joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee that the Army's petition for approval of irradiated ham had revealed "deficiencies in design and execution of experiments,"

Candidates Break Even in Final Round

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., seeking renomination for a fifth term, and Jim Johnson, considered his chief opponent, broke about even Monday as the last shots were fired prior to today's primary.

Bobby K. Hayes, another of Fulbright's opponents, got into the act by taking a few potshots of his own at the junior senator.

Fulbright did not mention names during a television speech but it was obvious his remarks were aimed at Johnson, the unsuccessful Democratic nominee for governor in 1966.

"It is not very complimentary to our state or our Democratic party to have our Democratic nominee for governor defeated in the general election for the first time in nearly 100 years and then have him cry fraud and proceed to betray and denounce his own party," Fulbright said.

Johnson supported Barry Goldwater, a Republican, for president in 1964 and is backing third party presidential candidate George Wallace this year.

Fulbright said he was sure the voters would not allow "false and distorted allegations about my record" influence their judgment.

Fulbright also said that Arkansas has greater influence in the Senate than larger states because he and Sen. John L. McClellan had been re-elected several times.

Johnson, also in a televised speech, attacked Fulbright from every possible angle.

"He hasn't explained his failure to repudiate an abortive Supreme Court which has given the green light to Communists, pornographers and criminals," Johnson said. "He hasn't explained his encouraging words to the Communists who are killing our soldiers, sailors and marines at this oment. He hasn't explained his undermining of national policy in time of war."

Johnson termed Fulbright the "powerful symbol of the perversion of America's purpose both at home and abroad" and said today's election would have a tremendous impact on the course of American history.

"It hinges on your choice between a smooth, sophisticated, articulate and proven socialist on the one hand and a conservative outspoken product of Arkansas traditions on the other," he said.

Hayes said the main thing "wrong with Mr. Fulbright is he's 40 years out of step... on social legislation."

Hayes said the power of seniority in the Senate had been "overemphasized" by Fulbright. He also said he differed with the junior senator who advocates a negotiated settlement in Vietnam.

DeWitt Rice Farmer Killed

DEWITT, Ark. (AP) — Clifford Vanderford, a rice farmer from near DeWitt, was killed Monday in a one-car crash on Arkansas 11, about 15 miles northwest of here.

Officers said Vanderford, 36, apparently lost control of his car on a curve. The victim was the son of Arkansas County Deputy Sheriff Pete Vanderford.

Rockefeller Challenges Nixon Claim

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and his backers challenge the contention of Richard M. Nixon's managers that the former vice president has in hand the votes to win the Republican presidential nomination.

Canvassing nomination support in Denver, Colo., Rockefeller described as just not true the claim of Nixon's campaign director that Nixon has more than enough votes lined up at next week's party convention.

John N. Mitchell, Nixon's campaign manager, said in a statement Monday that the 1960 GOP presidential nominee has more than 700 delegates ready to hand his candidate the party prize. A total of 667 is needed for the nomination.

"It's just factually not true," Rockefeller said. "We see Nixon with 500 to 550 votes. What's that saying about a man whistling in the dark?"

Backing this up, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, brother of the nomination-seeker, said he was confident Nixon was not going to win the nomination "on the first ballot, or on any ballot, for that matter."

Arkansas' Rockefeller conceded that convention delegates would be influenced somewhat by a Gallup Poll report indicating Nixon could defeat either Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey or Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., in November while his brother would run about even with them.

But he said this would not necessarily be fatal, despite the fact the New York governor has based his belated campaign for the nomination on the contention that he can win and Nixon can't.

"These polls fluctuate from week to week," the Arkansas governor said. "How can anyone say that sentiment in July is going to be the same in November? Nelson has a record of winning elections, which is more than can be said about some of his opponents."

An Associated Press tabulation of first ballot votes based on primary results, pledges and replies in an AP poll Monday showed Nixon with 542, down six since last week. Rockefeller gained six and had 202.

Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, a Rockefeller rooster, predicted that a drift of southern delegates away from Nixon to Gov. Ronald Reagan of California would help carry the convention to five ballots before a final choice of the nominee.

Shafer, scheduled to voice a pro-Rockefeller viewpoint in testimony before the convention's platform committee, said in Atlanta, Ga., that while campaigning for the New York governor remains "an uphill battle all over the country," he thinks the delegates will become convinced that Rockefeller is the man "best able to win the office" of the presidency.

In Pittsburgh, Rockefeller released a poll which he said indicated that in eight states with 200 electoral votes he would run

Students Riot in Mexico, Many Injured

By STRATFORD C. JONES
Associated Press Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A bazooka shell blast and a bayonet charge by steel-helmeted police and paratroopers routed hundreds of young demonstrators early today from the National University's No. 1 preparatory school, where they had held out against tear gas in Mexico City's worst student disorders in 20 years.

The bazooka shell tore through the wooden doors of the school to open the way for quelling the students, who had been rioting for more than five hours after demonstrations over the weekend. Army tanks backed up the government forces.

The disorders by dawn had left at least one student dead and nearly 400 injured—100 seriously, police said. It was estimated 300 were arrested.

The stern counteraction could backfire, opening the way for wider participation by giving students a cause to which almost all might rally: violation of the university's traditional right to autonomy.

The majority of the city's students have so far not joined the outbreak, some voicing concern for the image such actions would give the world just three months before it is invited to attend the Olympic Games of 1968, a year Mexico has termed "The Year of Peace."

Until the bazooka was fired, isolated groups of students from the eight main preparatory schools of the university had been rallying to little more than a charge of police brutality. This developed from police action in putting down fighting which broke out Friday night during a demonstration to celebrate the 15th anniversary of Fidel Castro's Cuban revolutionary movement, an abortive attack at Santiago de Cuba in 1953.

Police blamed that demonstration on Communist agitators. They said they arrested 76. They later singled out 16 of these, among them U.S. folk-singer Pete Seeger's daughter Milka, 20, as the hard core agitators.

The Russians Are Coming, Maybe

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Russians are coming. The Russians are coming, maybe.

Joseph T. Cascarella, executive vice president of Laurel Race course, back home after a week in Moscow, said Monday the Russians want to send a horse to this year's Washington, D.C., International.

The fact that he was invited to the Soviet Union for a third time, Cascarella said, indicates the Russians want to take another crack at winning the $150,000 turf race on Nov. 11.

He said a half dozen 3-year-olds are being considered by the Soviet Ministry of Agriculture, including the colt Zagreb, whose sire Carnit was one of the first two Russian entries in the 1958 International.

British Golfer Starting Bid in U.S.

LONDON (AP) — Mike Donallack, the wonder man of British amateur golf, started preparing today for his bid to conquer the United States and equal a 57-year-old record.

That includes practicing with the American-type larger ball.

If the 33-year-old Englishman can win the U.S. Amateur at Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 23-31 he will have captured the British and U.S. Amateur titles in one year. No Briton has done that since Harold Hilton in 1911.

Marty Fleckman, of the United States now a pro, did it last year.

Right now Donallack is the biggest name in British Golf following a fantastic triumph in the English Amateur at Canton last Saturday. He burned up the 6,752-yard course with a 10-under-par 61 and went on to defeat David Kelley by a record margin of 12 and 11 in the 36-hole final.

Donallack cleaned up the British Amateur title for the third time in eight years at Troon, Scotland, last June. He has won the English Amateur five times.

Multiple Sclerosis Still Subject for Study

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What is the cause of multiple sclerosis? How does it affect a person? How is it diagnosed? Can the victim continue to work? Is there any cure?

A—Multiple sclerosis is caused by the destruction of the myelin sheath (insulation) that surrounds the individual nerve fibers in the spinal cord. The cause of this destruction is not known. A recent theory is that it is the result of a deficiency of linolenic acid in the diet. This nutrient is found in seed oils and fresh fish. The theory has not been proved so studies to discover a viral cause are continuing.

The symptoms vary. They include an unsteady gait, rigidity or weakness of various muscles, tremors that are made worse by trying to control them (intention tremors) and a staccato-type of speech. The disease is diagnosed by a careful study of the symptoms relating to the nervous system. Since the severity varies widely, some victims can continue to work while others can't.

Treatment has in general been unsatisfactory and improvement is often temporary. Much can be done, however, to ease the victim's symptoms. Although there is no cure, local cooling of the spinal cord will relieve the muscular rigidity, painful spasms and intention tremor. Dr. Irving Cooper of New York has reported excellent results in the relief of these same symptoms with an operation on the midbrain. Other treatments that have apparently been helpful are injections of a synthetic cortisone-like drug into the spinal canal and giving the victim vitamin K-3.

For instance: a spinster's will left all her money to a niece, cutting off the brother she had long loved dearly. This was held sufficiently strange, along with other circumstances, to justify the conclusion that the woman had been subjected to undue influence by the niece.

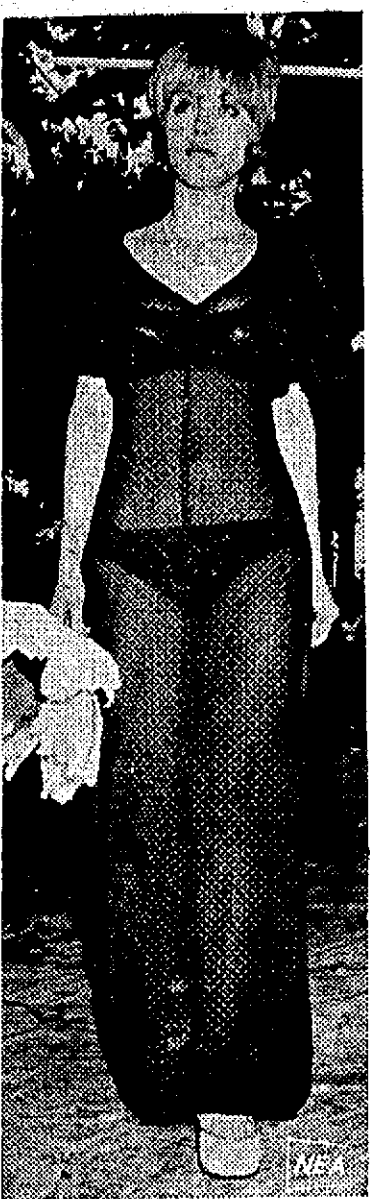

Furthermore, unnatural provisions won't be upheld if they are contrary to state laws or in conflict with public policy. Thus, a court would not approve instructions to "Burn all my money" or "Hire a gunman to do away with my boss."

Fortunately, the average will does not reflect either venom or spite. Most people find something better to do with their last words than to leave a legacy of hate. Not many individuals care to be remembered that way.

Legacies of Hate

"To my sister, one dollar and my curse."
"To my son-in-law, a good stout rope with which to hang himself."
"To my partner, my portrait of a viper."

These hateful legacies are examples of a peculiar phenomenon in the field of wills. The maker of a will knows that his words will probably not come to light until after his death—when he is safe from retribution. Under this protection, as one expert put it: "Human nature removes its mask."

Are such legacies valid? In making a will, is there a "right to be mean?"

Generally speaking, the answer is yes. The law is reluctant to condemn the motives of someone who is not present to make explanations. No court can be sure what real grievances might have lain hidden in his heart.

Besides, the very idea of a will is to give the maker the right to pick and choose among the possible objects of his bounty, favoring one, rejecting another.
On the other hand, if a will is sufficiently unnatural, that may be some indication that the person who made it was either under undue influence or mentally in-

15,000 Will Protect the Convention

By STUART J. BARN
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Fifteen thousand soldiers, police and federal agents will turn the site of the Democratic National Convention into an armed camp next month in a giant security operation.

The security arrangements could turn the convention—normally a horn-blowing spectacle—into an austere exercise in martial order.

Racial tensions in the city and the crowds of demonstrators and hippies who plan to come to Chicago will compound the job of keeping order and protecting President Johnson and the candidates.

Deployed round-the-clock at Chicago International Amphitheatre, and at hotels and motels housing delegates, will be some 8,000 uniformed and undercover policemen, 5,500 riot-trained National Guardsmen and at least 1,000 federal agents.

More men will be available on short notice from the Cook County sheriff's office, state police, the Coast Guard and the FBI. The remainder of Chicago's 12,000-man police department, including a mobile 600-man task force, will be on standby.

All security procedures are being coordinated by the Secret Service, charged with protecting the president, vice president and political candidates.

The Secret Service has 580 agents across the country and most will be in Chicago during convention week, Aug. 25-30.

Though plans are under tight wraps, it presumably has the Secret Service which ordered two Air Force reconnaissance jets to make low passes over Chicago last week to photograph the Amphitheatre and surrounding terrain.

Security measures are being taken on the Amphitheatre grounds, which sprawl across the eastern edge of the Union Stockyards on the racially tense South Side. Fences are going up and heliports being constructed, reportedly for air-lifting candidates to and from the hall.

The Amphitheatre, with 595,000 square feet of floor space under a single roof, will be sealed off within roughly an eight-square-block buffer zone.

To penetrate the perimeter, both pedestrians and vehicles will be required to display Democratic National Committee credentials. Inside, checkpoints will be established where guards reportedly will tear off perforated sections of the passes, good for only one day.

Traffic court will be closed Aug. 17-30, freeing 23 magistrates to process large numbers of prisoners in the event of a disturbance.

Each magistrate could hear well over 200 civil disorder cases a day.

The whole operation, both in scope and magnitude, appears to have taken on the aspect of a military movement.

Said one high police department source, "the security is the most elaborate ever devised for a convention anywhere."

The number of persons expected to converge on the city for antiwar and civil rights demonstrations ranges in the thousands.

The National Mobilization Committee, organizer of a march on the Pentagon by war protesters, has promised "the largest demonstrations in American history" at the Amphitheatre Aug. 27, President Johnson's birthday, and Aug. 28, the day of the nomination. They also plan a march through the Loop on the 28th.

The Free City Survival Committee, a hippie group, hopes to bring 50,000 youths to the city for a pop-music festival and "un-convention." They say they will live in the parks, but have not received permission for the camp-in.

Country Music Singer to Host Show

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gene Williams, a country music personality from West Memphis, signed a seven-year contract Monday to host and produce a daily television show that will feature top names in country and western music.

Stations in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana are expected to carry the show which begins Sept. 28.

Al Cannaway, executive producer of Consolidated Color Corp., signed Williams, 30, to the contract. The International Producers Center, Ltd., of which Cannaway is president, said he was pleased with the way his men and 180 riot-trained Indiana state policemen brought the disorders under control.

United Fund Chairmen Meet

He said the quick reduction of violence was gained because "the youth gangs are beginning to realize that the Gary police will not permit youths to use violence as a method of getting what they want."

"I think we've broken their backs now," Hilton said.

The disorders Monday were on the perimeter of the central district where the trouble of Sunday morning and Sunday night occurred.

The sniper fire started with the shattering of a police patrol car windshield in the Terrytown section on the west edge of the city less than an hour after the mayor had re-imposed a 9 p.m. curfew as a precautionary measure.

Police said when they returned the gunfire, the snipers quit.

About the same time, breaks and fires in businesses and vacant homes were reported to police faster than they could verify them, Hilton said.

At that point, police began answering each call for assistance from their fellow policemen with three and four cars and four to five men in each car.

The arrests included 42 for violation of curfew and 22 on charges ranging from a narcotics violation to carrying a concealed weapon.

Told No Fat Left on Foreign Aid

By ROBERT T. GRAY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has been told there's no fat left to trim from President Johnson's foreign-aid requests, now more than $1 billion under what he asked and the lowest in the program's 21-year history.

Acting Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., of the Foreign Relations Committee said the $1.94-billion level set by the committee "represents the absolute minimum necessary if we are to sustain our over-all foreign policy."

Johnson's original request for $2.96 billion was slashed repeatedly in its progress through the House Foreign Affairs Committee, the House and the Senate foreign relations committees.

The aid bill was called up in the Senate Monday night, with developments limited to Sparkman's opening statement.

The Senate timetable calls for completing action on the authorization measure by Friday, when Congress will adjourn for the national political conventions.

Reviewing decreases made up to this point, Sparkman said "the simple fact is that there is just no fat left for us to trim from the foreign assistance bill."

"We have in every case made the maximum cuts possible without jeopardizing the whole program and our entire foreign policy," he said.

In an apparent effort to anticipate objections to the measure, Sparkman said one critic had estimated that U.S. foreign aid since World War II totaled $170 billion. He termed that a mythical total.

The actual figure is about $40.5 billion, Sparkman said. He also underlined a requirement that at least 90 per cent of commodities financed by the aid program be purchased in this country.

Newspaper Discusses Crossover

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — The Searcy Citizen, said Monday in an editorial that a crossover vote by Democrats against Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller would prevent Republicans from possibly electing a weak Democrat to oppose the incumbent in November.

"We do not believe that there is any chance to defeat him (Rockefeller) for the nomination, but we do believe such a crossover will force the Rockefeller forces to keep their supporters voting in their own primary," the editorial said.

"If you find a Democratic candidate that you believe will give Arkansas real leadership in this crucial period, we urge you to vote for him. But if you are not so moved, we urged to cross over into the Republican primary and vote against Winthrop Rockefeller," the editorial said.

The newspaper said the "most crucial need of Arkansas is the removal of Winthrop Rockefeller from any position of political influence in this state."

The editorial also said that Rockefeller was elected in 1966 because of a strong negative vote against Democrat Jim Johnson.

Viet Credit Cards Fight Profiteering

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Command has introduced something like a credit card as its newest weapon against black marketing and dollar profiteering in South Vietnam, Pentagon officials report.

Currency control plates must now be used when a serviceman converts his military scrip to cash or when he spends it on certain high-priced post exchange goods.

Troops stationed in Vietnam are paid in scrip, or Military Payment Certificates (MPC), instead of dollars.

The plastic cards are used to stamp special forms which are fed through computers to give U.S. officials in Saigon a constant watch on the volume of converted scrip as well as on PX buying.

For example, if a man converts more than the authorized amount of scrip into dollars or money orders, the computer kicks out a card identifying him and showing all his recent transactions.

The plate also is used in recording all purchases of goods sought by black marketers: cameras, television sets, tape recorders, stereo systems, radios, airline tickets and other luxury items.

The Pentagon acknowledges that servicemen have been bribed into converting scrip into dollars for money manipulators in Saigon; some have been using illegally obtained scrip to buy PX items for black marketeers.

Scrip was introduced in Vietnam in 1965 as a means of keeping U.S. dollars off the market and easing the impact of American spending on the country's inflated economy.

But illicit money manipulation and illegal sales of American goods are a continuing problem. The U.S. Command has been forced to progressively tighten controls over American currency in South Vietnam to curb

Postal Cut Exemption Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to exempt the Post Office from government manpower cutbacks has been sent to a House-Senate conference committee which must act before Friday to avert the first in a series of postal service reductions.

The House approved the bill Monday while the Senate was adding more exemptions to the manpower cutbacks mandated by the recently passed 10 per cent income tax bill.

Exempted by the Senate were FBI agents and assistant U.S. attorneys.

Sen. John D. McClellan, D-Ark., proposed exemption of the FBI saying the country was depending on it for security during a period of turbulence.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., tacked on the attorney's exemption, arguing that more prosecutors will be needed to handle cases brought by the FBI.

Postmaster Gen. W. Marvin Watson said that if Congress does not approve an exemption for the Post Office by this weekend he will put into effect reduced weekend window-service hours and street-corner collections.

These are the first of a series of proposed postal cutbacks that eventually could lead to the shuttering of 12,000 small branches.

To get congressional approval of his 10 per cent income surcharge, President Johnson had to agree to a cut of $6 billion in federal spending.

As part of this, all government agencies must cut back to their 1966 personnel levels. For the Post Office, this would mean a loss of 63,000 employees.

Black market activities.

One of the latest restrictions, Pentagon officials say, went into effect last May: A $200 limit on the amount of scrip a serviceman can convert into cash when he is about to return to the United States.

He can exceed this limit only in the case of personal emergencies and then only with special permission.

The Pentagon says currency controls are needed because the dollar in Vietnam remains "in great demand" and "highly sought after through both legal and illegal means."

"This is especially true of Communist nations lacking normal trade relations with the free world, particularly North Vietnam and Red China."

The $200 limit is designed to "reinforce the effectiveness" of the scrip system, which, in the final analysis, is supposed to help protect the American dollar, the Pentagon said.

Yankees Go Home, Is Cry in Manila

MANILA (AP) — About 100 youths screaming "Yankees go home" and "killers" broke through the main gate to the U.S. Embassy compound to night in protest against the fatal shooting of a Filipino teenager by an American Marine guard.

The chanting, placard-carrying youths pushed open the gate and past security guards but lost their steam after rushing some 25 yards into the embassy compound. They stopped, turned around and went back out the gate.

They regrouped there and continued their shouting protest against the killing last Friday of Rogelio Gonzales, 18, by a sentry at the U.S. naval station at Sangley Point south of Manila.

The Manila press has bitterly criticized the killing, saying the situation did not warrant shooting, and insisting that the guard — Lance Cpl. Kenneth Smith, 21, Astoria, N.J.—be turned over to Philippine authorities for trial.

Episcopal Favors Birth Control

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — The Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church in the United States, today reaffirmed his support for "family planning and birth control by appropriate medical means."

His statement at the Anglican Lambeth Conference here followed Paul Paul's renewed veto Monday of artificial means of birth control in the Roman Catholic faith.

Bishop Hines said: "The Episcopal Church has consistently supported appropriate measures for birth control exercised by husband and wife in Christian conscience."

"We believe such action to be an aid to sound and healthy marriage, as well as a necessity in the grim struggle against poverty, hunger, even famine in many parts of the world."

His statement reiterated the Anglican attitude toward birth control which was spelled out at the last Lambeth Conference in 1958. The Presbyterian Church of Scotland adopted a similar stand this year but condemned the use of contraceptives "for selfish and indulgent motives."

The steering committee of the Lambeth Conference held an unscheduled meeting today to discuss the Pope's action.

The committee consists of the Episcopalian Archbishop of Dublin, Dr. George Simms, the bishops of London, Exeter and Gibraltar, Bishop Stephen F. Bayne, vice president of the executive council of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States, and Canadian Bishop Ralph Dean, Episcopal secretary to the conference and executive officer of the Anglican Communion.

While the steering committee met, other bishops divided into 32 subcommittees to debate the main theme of the conference, renewal of the church in faith, in ministry and in unity.

Steel Strike Appears to Be Fading

By DOUG BAILEY
Associated Press Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — With the threat of a nationwide steel strike fading before a reported 78-cent offer, the stage is set today for the first big test of new power given the United Steelworkers Union rank and file.

It was reported the wage and benefits package, for three years, still is being negotiated and may be worth another 10 cents an hour before it is wrapped up.

"They have an agreement," said Anthony Tomko, president of a 5,000-man local at McKeesport, Pa. "The problem now seems to be whether the union leaders can sell it to the members."

For the first time, the 600 local presidents have the power to ratify or reject a contract, or call a strike when the current agreement runs out at midnight Wednesday. They are organized into a group called the basic steel industry conference, meeting this afternoon.

Officially, the union wasn't even admitting Monday that a new offer from the industry was on the table, much less that it was acceptable to top negotiators.

But union sources passed the word that the industry had offered a 20-cent hourly wage increase immediately, with raises of 12 and 13 cents to follow in the second and third year of the contract—a total of 45 cents.

All workers not covered by incentive pay—the biggest issue in some plants—would get a 5 per cent bonus. Pensions would be raised from $5 to $6.50 a month per year of service for men with 30 years service, meaning they could get $195 a month instead of $150.

An extra paid holiday, for a total of eight, was thrown in, along with pay for widows whose husbands are killed on the job. An extra seven cents would be added to the job classifications spread, meaning that top classifications would get seven cent additional per hour by the time the three-year contract ended.

Provisions on other union demands, such as unemployment, insurance, severance and job training, could not be learned. But these contract improvements could push the total package up another 5 or 10 cents, to possibly 88 cents an hour.

One source who described the offer said the top union negotiators were pleased, except for the provision on incentive pay. They want 10 per cent instead of 5, he said.

Before the figures were bandied in hotel corridors Monday night, Joseph P. Molony, the union's international vice president, talked briefly to the industry conference, and made the strongest statement of the month-long negotiations.

"It looks encouraging," he said. "Considerable progress has been made. Tomorrow or the day after we'll have an agreement without government intervention—I hope."

The right to approve contracts was given to the local presidents in answer to demands for more democracy in the union. It was approved at the same union convention where President I. W. Abel pushed through a proposal for a rank and file strike vote.

If the offer turns out to be worth 78 cents—the figures are always subject to different interpretations—it will hit the 6 per cent the union was demanding.

Steelworkers averaged $3.84 an hour in May, when checks were swollen by overtime, but normal earnings are closer to $3.70.

The contract would directly affect about 450,000 men in basic steel, and another 100,000 in closely allied industries.

But the negotiations involve only the 388,000 men who work for the 11 largest steel companies. The package then becomes the pattern for other companies.

New Orleans Club Winner

HOUSTON (AP) — Buddy Friedrichs of the Southern Yacht Club, New Orleans, won the opener Monday in the five-race series for the North American Dragon Class Sailing Championships.

$2 Bet Pays $23,728.60
DENVER (AP) — Some lucky better Monday night wagered $2 on a twin-quinella at the Mile High Kennel Club and won $23,728.60—the highest twin-quin ever paid in the United States, track officials said.

A spokesman for the greyhound track said the winner did not cash his ticket immediately. The winning combination was 3-5-4-8.

domestic problems. In the Republican primary, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, first GOP chief executive of Arkansas since Reconstruction, seeks renomination. He was heavily favored in the race with Sidney C. Roberts, an unemployed salesman from Little Rock.

The polls opened at 8 a.m. CDT and were to close at 7:30 p.m.

Besides Mrs. Johnson, the Democratic gubernatorial field includes former Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett of El Dorado, attorney Ted Boswell of Bryant, former state Sen. Clyde Byrd of Little Rock, state Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman and insurance company president Frank Whitbeck of Little Rock.

Fulbright denounced Johnson, a self-styled segregationist, for supporting GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater in 1964 and for his backing this year of former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace as a third party candidate for the presidency.

"It is not very complimentary . . . to have our Democratic nominee for governor defeated in the general election for the first time in nearly 100 years and then have him cry fraud and proceed to betray and denounce his own party," Fulbright said.

Johnson won his party's nomination for governor two years ago but lost to Rockefeller in the general election.

Others opposing the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee are Bobby K. Hayes, a flooring manufacturer from Calico Rock, and Foster Johnson, a music publisher from Little Rock.

All have criticized Fulbright's stand on the war with the Johnsons' advocating an increase in bombing of North Vietnam, and Hayes, after calling for victory, now saying the U.S. should bring its troops home without negotiation.

Jim Johnson said Monday night that the voters had a choice between "a smooth, sophisticated, articulate and proven socialist on the one hand and a conservative outspoken product of Arkansas tradition on the other."

Jim Johnson, a fiery orator, has labeled Fulbright as "the pin-up boy of Hanoi" and "that powerful symbol of perversion of America's purpose both at home and abroad."

Fulbright has called the charge "utter trash and hogwash."

The race for governor is expected to be a wide open battle with almost every candidate given a chance of reaching the primary runoff two weeks from today.

A close race is also expected in the 1st District where Akins is opposed by attorneys Lee Ward of Jonesboro, Bill Alexander of Osceola and Jack Files of Brinkley; Mayor Clyde Andrews of Marianna; Dr. Ralph R. Ratton, a dentist from Paragould; Carroll "Bull" Durham, a funeral home operator from Wynne and Eugene T. Ridgeway, a salesman from Newport who once served a prison sentence for embezzlement.

Democratic primary races for Lt. Gov., state Treasurer and Pos. 5 on the state Supreme Court are also on the ballot.

Seeking the lieutenant governor's nomination are state Rep. Bill Wells of Hermitage, Julian James of Jonesboro, Kenneth Coffelt of Little Rock, Bill Herndon of North Little Rock and Gilbert Leigh of Little Rock.

Larry Henslee, a former bank employe from North Little Rock, is challenging Mrs. Nancy Hall for the nomination for state Treasurer. Mrs. Hall is seeking her fourth term.

Policy Change for Convicts Is Likely

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Prison Supt. Victor Urban said Monday that a weekend incident would force prison officials to review their policy of granting convicts weekend leave.

Urban made the statement after it was learned that Luther Cohen Jr., 33, a Cummins Prison Farm trustee, was being held in the Crittenden County Jail on charges of assault with intent to kill, burglary and grand larceny.

Urban said Cohen had been granted weekend leave and had returned to Crittenden County. He said Cohen had been granted similar privileges four other times and there had been no problems. He said Cohen had been assigned to the State Police Training Academy.

Cohen was charged in connection with a burglary early Saturday at the home of a woman, who was beaten by an intruder. Cohen was arrested Sunday about six miles west of West Memphis at a house on U.S. 70.

Cohen was serving an eight-year sentence for robbery from Crittenden County.

Authorities said the woman told them that her husband was in the hospital and she was alone in the house when she was awakened by the intruder.

Alzheimer to Desegregate All Schools

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Alzheimer School Board will begin the 1968-69 school year with its freedom-of-choice plan but it must submit a desegregation plan by Nov. 1.

Federal Judge J. Smith Henley issued the ruling Monday. He said the new plan would be put into effect at the beginning of the 1969-70 school year. He said the plan must establish a unitary school system.

"It is evident that the district is still operating a dual school system and that freedom of choice has not up to this time proved an acceptable or satisfactory method of bringing that system to an end," Henley said.

The Alzheimer Board filed a motion July 1, saying it was conducting a study to determine how the district could be converted to a unitary system.

"With some hesitation, the court will go along with the board and permit it to at least commence operations in September under its present arrangement," Henley said. He said any hope Alzheimer had of continuing its freedom of choice plan in 1969-70 was a "forlorn one."

Gag Campaign Vote

I was taken in by a story from Homer Beyerley who was taken in by the man who first told it, the Little Rock auditor who goes over the accounts of South-west Wood Products.

The auditor, Larry Moffett, reported he spent the night at a motel in Atlanta, Texas. During supper he met a lady acquaintance who said there would be a party in Apartment 14 and invited him along.

"Sorry," said Moffett, "but I can't go."

"Why not?"

"My parents won't permit me."

"What do you mean, 'parents'?" she asked.

Replied Moffett: "Old Mother Nature and Old Father Time."

The campaigning is over, and, win or lose, the candidates and their families are glad of it. I'm one editor who knows something about the rigors of the campaign trail. Twice I campaigned over 25 counties with sales tax petitions, in 1955 and 1957. Every editor ought to go through such an experience — it gives him a better understanding of what the candidates have to put up with in the democratic process called electioneering.

In 1957 I maintained state campaign headquarters in Little Rock's Grady Manning Hotel. A seedy-looking individual came in and asked to see me personally. But one of the knowledgeable office girls gave me a warning signal. She pegged him for a shake-downer.

The man told me: "Give me $25 and I can do you some good."

I didn't shake. Politicians tell me they are always running into characters like that — looking for a handout while dedicated men and women give their time and money to a public cause they believe in.

Generally speaking, all candidates have a cause, and they deserve to be heard if you believe in our representative democracy.

The people have a tendency to low-rate candidates, but as I get older I suspect part of the public is responsible for making a candidate's reputation no better than it is. Remember this when you attempt to sit in judgment on a fellow citizen who's running for office. Maybe he started off as a dedicated man, then ran into a class of people who evaluate elections in dollars, not dedication.

This is Election Day. It's your duty to vote. No other duty comes ahead of this.

If America ever forgets her heritage of a free and secret ballot the time may come when voting won't mean any more in our country than it does in the lands where Communist bureaucracy rules.

County 4-H Club Members Do Very Well

Hempstead County 4-H'ers participated in the 33rd University 4-H Club Week held on the campus of the University of Arkansas July 23-25. Six hundred forty-two 4-H members representing every county in the state were present.

Four-H'ers did well in competitive activities according to Dolores McBride, Extension Home Economist, and Cayce Smith, Assistant County Extension Agent, who accompanied county delegation.

Pam Huffman won a "A" award in a Safety Competitive Activity. David Rowe took "A" award honors in Tractor Driving. Hershel Wilson captured "A" award honors in Timber Estimating. Sheryl Bright won a B award in competition with some 75 participants. James Rowe competed in identifying insects. Mary Hendrix presented a Home Management demonstration and Irene Hendrix a demonstration in Foods and Nutrition.

While at the University, 4-H'ers had an opportunity to tour the campus and to visit the schools and departments of the University they were interested in and visit with the professors.

Four-H club work is conducted by the Agricultural Extension

U.S. Suffers Setbacks in Two Battles

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. forces suffered setbacks in two ground battles reported today in which 24 Americans were killed and only five enemy bodies were found. In the air a U.S. Navy pilot downed an enemy MIG jet fighter in a five-minute dogfight over North Vietnam.

One of the setbacks was dealt U.S. Marines from the 7th Regiment in a day-long battle about 25 miles south of Da Nang, one of several areas in which enemy troops have been reported massing, presumably for the countrywide Communist offensive expected in the next two months.

About 200 North Vietnamese troops cut into the Marines with heavy machine-gun fire in what appeared to be an ambush. When the North Vietnamese finally pulled back under heavy air and artillery attack 20 Marines were dead and another 40 were wounded.

The battle took place Sunday, but was not reported until today. The Marines swept the battlefield Monday and found only five North Vietnamese bodies. Possibly others were carried off by the enemy.

In what appeared to be another ambush Monday, North Vietnamese troops hiding in a wooded area opened up with heavy machine guns, small arms and mortars on U.S. air cavalrymen probing enemy base camps deep in the mountains 35 miles northwest of Hue.

The fighting at this time was at grenade range. Helicopter gunships swooped in to help drive off the enemy.

Four air cavalrymen were reported killed and 25 wounded. Enemy casualties so far were not known, but the air cavalrymen were sweeping the battlefield today.

Hempstead Eligible for Assistance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., said Monday that the designation of Southwest Arkansas Economic Development District had been attached to 12 counties and that five counties — Dallas, Hempstead, Lafayette, Little River and Nevada — had been designated redevelopment areas by the Economic Development Administration.

He said the designation for the 12 counties — Calhoun, Columbia, Dallas, Hempstead, Lafayette, Little River, Miller, Nevada, Howard, Ouachita, Sevier and Union — would make the area eligible for federal assistance in planning and carrying out programs for economic growth.

All Up in Air About New Physical Fitness Program — Aerpbics

By JOY STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — I'm all up in the air about a new physical fitness system called aerobics.

It's an exercise program developed by Dr. Kenneth H. Cooper, major in the U.S. Air Force, whereby certain activities are worth varying numbers of points. To keep in top condition all you have to do is acquire 30 points a week.

I've been keeping track of my track record, and it turns out I'm not only bursting with physical fitness but at the end of every week Dr. Cooper owes me at least 15 points.

He offers five points for such feats as running a mile in less than eight minutes; swimming 24 laps in under 15 minutes; cycling five miles in less than 20 minutes, and playing handball for 35 minutes.

Even 18 holes of golf is a three-point pastime and three sets of tennis bring in 4½ points.

But nowhere in his book can I find an evaluation of my daily calisthenics program, so I'll just have to set up my own scorecard.

For instance, there's the exercise of getting through revolving doors. With someone in front

GOP Proposal to End War Has Dimmed

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Chances for a dramatic Republican platform proposal to end the Vietnam war dimmed today as former President Dwight D. Eisenhower opposed any "camouflaged" surrender.

Eisenhower's special message to the platform committee accompanied the testimony of a nonpartisan committee, of which he is a member, ruling out both pullout and massive escalation of the fighting.

It strengthened the sentiment apparently already held by a majority of the committee for a broadly worded statement that would leave the party's presidential candidate free to develop his position during the campaign. Such a plank fits the mood of supporters of Richard M. Nixon, who are saying their man will be nominated on the first or second ballot.

But even some sympathizers of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller agreed that the plank on the overriding international issue cannot be too specific.

Eisenhower urged the campaign document writers to "make it clear to Hanoi that we do not seek nor will we accept a camouflaged surrender which would inevitably result in the United States writing off Southeast Asia for the foreseeable future."

Eisenhower's appeal — addressed to both parties — was taken to the Republican platform hearings by representatives of the Citizens Committee for Peace with Freedom in Vietnam.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, a Rockefeller supporter on the platform committee, told a reporter he expects the Eisenhower statement to have considerable weight in the drafting.

Sen. John G. Tower of Texas, a Nixon stalwart serving on the committee, said a majority of the group is "Nixon-disposed." He added: "It is logical to expect that the platform will reflect that sentiment."

Nixon has not spelled out his proposals for handling the Vietnam problem, but he may have

Eight Peoria Officers Shot by Snipers; Gary Gunmen Are Silenced

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Eight policemen were sprayed by shotgun pellets early today after rock and brick throwing erupted into gunfire and firebombings in a Negro neighborhood northeast of downtown Peoria.

Five of the officers were treated at St. Francis Hospital and were released. Three were admitted but their condition was termed not serious.

No other injuries were reported in the early morning outbreak.

Four men and three women, all Negroes, were arrested. Police said the trouble began late Monday night when Negro youths started hurling rocks and bricks at vehicles stopping for a traffic signal at Green and Adams Streets near the Taft Homes housing project.

After the situation deteriorated during the post-midnight hours, all off-duty city police, 18 sheriff's deputies and several state police were summoned to duty in the area.

Calm returned shortly before dawn, but the area was sealed off to all outsiders and an estimated 225 police patrolled the streets.

History, English, Math Tossed Out for the Study of Black Power

By TONY MAY
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — At Wanamaker Junior High in North Philadelphia, they've thrown out the mathematics, history, English and social studies textbooks this summer to study the question of Black Power.

"We don't mean we're teaching them how to make Molotov cocktails," said Principal Charles Leftwich, a balding Negro doctoral candidate. "We're asking them to investigate Black Power and what it means and what it does as a method of getting certain skills across."

Really, Leftwich said, the pupils are getting all those textbook subjects in concentrated form and, maybe for the first time, enjoying it.

Under Leftwich's experimental program, 89 boys in the predominantly Negro school are getting a chance to examine the how, what, when, where and why of Black Power and teen-aged gangs while the rest of the 500 fifth to eighth graders are divided into teams studying housing, recreation, city services, jobs and communications.

The idea, explained Leftwich, is to "find topics interesting enough to the pupils so they will want to learn to read and compete."

Studies show that most inner-city pupils can't read as well and aren't motivated as well as their suburban counterparts and therefore, they don't do as well in school — especially in courses that require reading skills such as English and history, Leftwich said.

This summer, the principal said, most of the boys are reading more, and at a higher level than they did during the regular school year.

"We're reading 'The Autobiography of Malcolm X,' and we've read 'Another Country' by James Baldwin and Negro

Large Crowd Hears Marion Crank Here

Marion Crank, Democratic candidate for Governor of Arkansas, spoke before an estimated crowd of over 500 Monday night in the Third District Livestock Coliseum in Hope.

Senator Olen Hendrix of Prescott served as Master of Ceremonies for the campaign rally and Judge Royce Welschberger of Hope introduced Crank.

Planned as an 8-county rally, delegations came from Nevada, Howard, Little River, Columbia, Lafayette, Pike, Sevier, Union, Miller and Pulaski counties. Hempstead County was well represented at the rally.

Entertainment was furnished by the Rainbow Melodies of Patmos and Ray Turner was in charge of arrangements.

Deficit in Budget Is $25.4 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top government officials reported today the budget deficit in the fiscal year that closed June 30 was $25.4 billion — $5.6 billion above the administration's estimate in January and $3.1 billion above the revised estimate of March 31.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and Charles J. Zwick, director of the Bureau of the Budget, said in a statement that congressional delays in enacting the 10 per cent income tax surcharge were partly responsible.

Receipts fell $2.3 billion short of what had been estimated in January because the surcharge did not go onto the books in time to bring in the revenue anticipated, they said.

Spending was $3.3 billion higher than estimated in January, they said. They noted however that spending for Vietnam was only $800 million above what President Johnson outlined when he spelled out the revisions on March 31.

No Further Curtailment of Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that the United States cannot further curtail bombing in North Vietnam until that country makes a "realistic response" to U.S. moves for peace.

At a news conference Rusk declared, "We need something better than a blank wall" before further progress can be made.

Rusk denied reports that North Vietnam has been displaying restraint.

He said the United States and its allies must know from some responsible source in North Vietnam — either directly or indirectly — what would happen if the United States were to halt the remainder of the bombing of North Vietnam.

He said it is known that about 30 per cent of the trucks North Vietnam sends with supplies for South Vietnam are destroyed or damaged on the way by air attack. "We know that if we stop the bombing 100 per cent of the trucks would arrive," he said.

"No one has told us what would happen if we stopped bombing. We feel we and our allies are entitled to an answer to that question."

Convicts Don't Return From Furloughs

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Two Cummins Prison inmates who did not return as scheduled Monday from meritorious furloughs have been listed as escaped.

Prison officials identified the inmates as Kenneth Nicely, 29, and Jim Mac Lee, 36.

A prison spokesman said Nicely was serving a life sentence from Nevada County for first-degree murder. He said Lee was serving a 15-year sentence from Cross County for obtaining property under false pretenses.

The spokesman said Nicely was to have gone to the Hope House at Little Rock during his 7-day furlough. A spokesman for the halfway house said Nicely showed up last Tuesday, but had not been seen since.

Lee was to have gone to Wynne on his furlough.

Governor's Race Could Poll 450,000

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The voter turnout in Arkansas today appeared about normal for a primary election as Sen. J. William Fulbright south renomination against three foes sharply critical of his Vietnam stand. Skies were clear in northwest Arkansas, with partly cloudy

A check of the local precincts in both Republican and Democratic primaries at about noon Tuesday revealed voting in Hope was moderate. The Democratic total for the city was 757 and the Republican total for Hope, McCaskill and Fulton was 58.

The light vote probably is due in part of the fact that the polls close an hour later than usual at 7:30 p.m. and to the fact no county candidate has opposition. Here's the totals by precincts:

skies the rule over most of the state. Some rain was reported in south Arkansas. Temperatures were expected to be in the 80s through most of election day.

A vote of about 450,000 was expected in the Democratic primary, where Fulbright seeks renomination, six candidates seek the gubernatorial nomination and eight are running for the party banner in the 1st Congressional District.

About 30,000 votes were anticipated in the Republican primary.

Spot checks of polling places showed an average-sized turnout of voters in the first hour of voting at Little Rock, in Fulbright's home county at Fayetteville, and in Conway, the center of the home county of Jim Johnson, Fulbright's most prominent opponent.

Johnson and his wife, Virginia, who is among the Democratic gubernatorial hopefuls, vote in Conway this morning in a rural box located inside the city limits. Their son, Mark, one of three sons of the Johnsons, accompanied them.

In that box, 38 votes were cast in the first hour of the election, and election officials in Conway said it was a heavier turnout than usual. In a city box at Conway, though, the turnout was reported at 21 votes in the first hour, slightly below normal.

Fulbright has said during the campaign that his opposition to the war in Vietnam is aimed at "stopping the killing of our young men and to bring them home to their families where they belong."

He also said in a statewide television appeal for votes Monday night that the war has cost billions of dollars that could have been used to help solve
